Subject: Påmelding til: "Building the National Institutes of Health
(NIH) Grant Proposal" workshop, 17 juni, fra kl 09:00-12:00, BB-bygget.
Importance: High

Hei

Onsdag, 17. juni holder Dr. Robert Parker, ved University of Tennessee, kurset «Building the National Institutes of Health (NIH) Grant Proposal»
på UiB.

På dette kurset lærer du å skrive best mulige NIH søknader. Med Dr.
Robert Porter sin mangeårige erfaring vil du få mye nyttig informasjon ved å delta på kurset.

REGISTER FOR THE WORKSHOP HERE:

INFORMATION:

Time: 09:00-12:00

Date: June, 17, 2015

Place: BB-bygget, Jonas Lies vei 91, Auditorium 2

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION:

The complex requirements of an NIH grant proposal place extreme demands on the grant writer. From the tight logic of the Hypothesis/Specific Aims section to the minute details of the Research Design, the exacting format requires precise adherence to guidelines. This workshop will focus on key principles for effective writing in each major component of the proposal.

Samples from successful proposals will be cited, with special attention to a model R01 proposal, annotated by NIH staff.

- * Overview of NIH Mission, Structure and Budget
- * Characteristics of Successful Proposals
- * Recent Changes in Proposal Formats (R01, R03, R21)
- * The Abstract: Last written, First Read
- * Hypothesis/Specific Aims: Crafting a Solid Foundation
- * Tips for Writing the Research Strategy

Mvh,
Kristin Hansen
