

Overlege dr.med. Carl Johan Unger-Vetlesen Charitable Fund

THE UNGER-VETLSEN MEDICAL FUND, JERSEY, C.I.

Mrs. E.P. Lyster-Smythe, late of Jersey, Channel Islands, has set up in Jersey, a fund in memory of her father for the benefit of the Norwegian medical profession.

The primary object of the Fund is to promote knowledge of all aspects of medical science amongst members of the Norwegian medical profession (beneficiaries).

The fund invites applications from the Norwegian medical doctors for funds to be used for the pursuance of further medical studies or research outside Norway.

The applicants must be Norwegian citizens and qualified MDs with a wish to become proficient in a major foreign language and familiarize themselves with medical development and research centered outside Norway.

The above Fund is a Jersey, Channel Island fund, and administered there. Applications should concern further medical studies or research which entails a stay outside Norway of at least six months. Preference will be given to applicants who have not already commenced their studies abroad.

Applications should include the following documents (all written in Times New Roman, 12 pts)

- Project plan (max. 10 pages)
- CV (max. 2 pages)
- Publication list
- Budget, including additional sponsoring if available

All applications should be written in English and also include a letter of recommendation from a relevant Norwegian institution and a letter of invitation from the visiting institution.

All application files per applicant should be merged into one pdf-file and mailed to the Fund's Norwegian contact address: Elisabeth.braaten@obos.no before February 15th, 2017. Applications that do not include all required documents will not be evaluated.

All successful beneficiaries will be notified by medio April 2017. Their names will be made public on the Fund's own website (<http://www.ungervetlesen.com/>). The decisions of the Trustees concerning the applications granted each year is final.

All disbursement will be made in Pound Sterling.
